Minutes of Board meetings are prepared, and copies or extracts of Board decisions are issued or certified in accordance with the requirements of the law.

Decisions can also be taken by all other means agreed by law, and among others by video conference.

ARTICLE 12 BOARD POWERS

The Board of Directors has the widest powers to act on all occasions in the name of the Company. The Board exercises these powers within the limits of the object of the Company, and subject to the powers expressly assigned by law to meetings of shareholders.

The Board of Directors determines the Company's business policies and supervises their implementation. Subject to the powers expressly granted by law to meetings of shareholders, and within the limit of the corporate purpose, the Board is also informed of all matters concerning the proper functioning of the Company and settles such matters through its deliberations.

The Board of Directors makes such controls and verifications as it deems appropriate. Each Director receives all information needed to carry out his duties and can request all documents he deems pertinent.

In its relations with third parties, the Company is bound by all acts of the Board of Directors that do not come within the corporate purpose, unless the Company can prove that the third party knew, or must have known in the circumstances, that the action in question was outside the corporate purpose. The disclosure of the articles of association is not of itself sufficient proof thereof.

The Board of Directors decides, subject to the provisions of ordinary law on quorum and majority, whether the general management of the company is conducted by the Board Chairman or by a "Directeur Général" (chief executive officer), such decision remaining valid until changed by the Board.

The Board of Directors may decide to establish committees to examine and give their opinion on questions submitted to them by the Chairman or the Board or by the Board itself.

ARTICLE 13 REMUNERATION OF DIRECTORS

Directors may be granted attendance fees.

The allocation of attendance fees is determined by the Board of Directors itself.

Special remuneration can also be granted to directors by the Board in the case and under the circumstances specified by law.

ARTICLE 14 CHAIRMAN

The Board of Directors elects a Chairman from among its members and determines his remuneration. The Board determines the Chairman's term of office, which cannot exceed his term as Board member.

The Chairman of the Board of Directors may hold office until his 69th birthday, his duties ending on the date on which he reaches this age limit. However, in the event that the offices of the Chairman and "Directeur Général" are separated, the duties of the first Chairman not engaged in the general management of the Company will end at the close of the Ordinary General Meeting convened to approve the accounts for the year in which the Chairman reaches the age of 69.

The Chairman organises and directs the work of the Board of Directors, for which he reports to the General Meeting of Shareholders. The Chairman supervises the orderly operation of the Company's governing bodies and ensures that its Directors are capable of carrying out their duties.

ARTICLE 15 OFFICE OF CHIEF EXECUTIVE

15.1 If the Board of Directors does not delegate general management to the Chairman, it appoints a "Directeur Général" (chief executive Director), who need not be a Board member, and determines his term in office and remuneration.

The "Directeur Général" has the broadest powers to act in all circumstances on behalf of the Company, within the limits of the corporate purpose and subject to the powers expressly assigned by law to general meetings of shareholders and to powers specific to the Board of Directors.

The "Directeur Général" represents the Company in its relations with third parties.

The Company is bound all acts of the "Directeur Général" that do not come within the corporate purpose, unless the Company can prove that the third party knew, or must have known in the circumstances, that the action in question was beyond the corporate purpose. The disclosure of the articles of association is not of itself sufficient proof thereof.

The provisions of this Article and those of the Commercial Code ("Code de commerce"), pertaining to the "Directeur Général" shall apply when the general management of the Company is conducted by the Chairman.

- 15.2 Upon the recommendation of the "Directeur Général", the Board of Directors can delegate one or more persons to act as "Directeur Général Délégué" (executive vice president).

The maximum number of "Directeurs Généraux Délégués" is fixed at five.

The scope and duration of the powers delegated to the "Directeurs Généraux Délégués" are determined by the Board of Directors in agreement with the "Directeur Général".

With respect to third parties, the "Directeurs Généraux Délégués" have the same powers as the "Directeur Général".

In the event of a vacancy in the office of the chief executive, the functions and powers of the "Directeurs Généraux Délégués" remain valid until a new "Directeur Général" has been appointed, unless otherwise decided by the Board of Directors.

ARTICLE 16 AUDITORS

One or more Auditors are appointed and carry out their auditing duties in accordance with the requirements of the law.

On their appointment, or where applicable on their reappointment, the Auditors must be under the age of 65.

ARTICLE 17 GENERAL MEETINGS OF SHAREHOLDERS

General Meetings of Shareholders are convened, and take decisions under the conditions laid down by law.

Meetings of shareholders are held at the registered address of the Company, or in any other place indicated in the notice of the meeting.

General Meetings of Shareholders comprise all shareholders, irrespective of the number of shares held, and provided said shares are paid up in accordance with calls.

Attendance at General Meetings, in any form whatsoever, is subject to the recording or registration of the shares under those conditions and within those deadlines provided for by regulations in force.

Shareholders may also appoint a proxy or vote by post under the conditions and in accordance with the provisions laid down by the laws and regulations in force. In particular, for every General Meeting, each shareholder may deliver their proxy form and postal voting form either in paper format or, subject to the decision of the Board of Directors stated on the notice of the meeting and the notice to attend, electronically.

In the case of voting electronically, the signature of the shareholder shall take the form of either a secure electronic signature, or a reliable identification process confirming the shareholder's link to the act to which this signature is attached, which may consist of a username and password or any other means required or authorised by the regulations in force.

Any proxy or vote cast electronically before the General Meeting, as well as the acknowledgement of receipt which is given, shall be considered as irrevocable written evidence which is binding on all parties, it being understood that in the case of the sale of securities occurring before midnight Paris time two business days before the meeting (or any other date and/or time specified by the legal or regulatory provisions in force), the Company or its representative shall invalidate or amend the proxy or vote cast prior to this date and time accordingly.

Each member of the General Meeting of Shareholders has one vote for each share which he owns or represents, without limitation but subject to the following stipulations concerning double voting rights and the exceptions specified by law.

However, owners of registered, fully-paid shares who can substantiate that they have been registered in the Company's records for at least two years without interruption shall have double the voting rights stipulated above.

Double voting rights will be assigned to registered shares issued free of charge to a shareholder on the basis of old shares which he already holds and for which he possesses double voting rights.

Double voting rights will terminate automatically for any share transferred. However, the period of two years stipulated above will not be interrupted, and rights already acquired will be retained, in the event of any share transfer resulting from inheritance, whether testate or intestate, or the division of property as between spouses. These provisions will also apply in the case of a gift inter vivos, in favour of a spouse or a relative entitled to inherit and in the case of a transfer of shares resulting from a merger or a split of a shareholder company.

Voting rights, and consequently the right to attend General Meetings of Shareholders, are held by the beneficial owner in the case of Annual General Meetings, and the bare owner for Extraordinary General Meetings. These rights are retained by the shareholder in the case of pledged shares.

The individual co-owners of shares are represented in the General Meeting of Shareholders by one of said co-owners, or by a joint proxy, the latter being appointed by the courts at the request of the first co-owner to take this initiative, in the event of disagreement between the co-owners.

General Meetings of Shareholders are chaired by the Chairman of the Board, or by one of the Deputy Chairmen, or in their absence, by a Director specifically delegated for this purpose by the Board. By default, the Chairman of the meeting is elected by the members of the General Meeting of Shareholders.

Minutes of the General Meeting of Shareholders are drawn up, and copies are certified and issued in accordance with the requirements of the law.

ARTICLE 18 COMPANY FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Each financial year of the Company commences on 1 January and terminates on 31 December.

The income statement, which records income and expenses for the financial year, also shows, by difference and after deduction of charges to depreciation and reserves, the profit or loss for the financial year.

The profit for each financial year, duly reduced by loss carry-overs where appropriate, is subject to initial appropriation for charges to reserves as required by law. An appropriation of 5% is made to cover a charge to the statutory legal reserve. This charge ceases to be mandatory when the total amount of this reserve reaches one-tenth of the share capital of the Company. This charge again becomes applicable, at such time as the amount of the legal reserve falls below this level for whatever reason.

Profit available for distribution comprises net profit for the financial year, less loss carry-overs and charges to reserves, in accordance with the requirements of the law, plus retained earnings brought forward.

At the proposal of the Board, the General Meeting of Shareholders can deduct from this profit, any sums which it sees fit to appropriate as a charge to any optional ordinary or special reserves, or to carry forward as retained earnings.

Any surplus then remaining is divided between all shares, in proportion to their paid-up and unredeemed amount.

The General Meeting of Shareholders, ruling on the financial statements for the last financial year, is empowered to grant each shareholder choice of payment of all or part of the dividend decided, in cash or in the form of shares.

ARTICLE 19 CIVIL SERVANTS ON SECONDMENT

With a view to achieving the object of the Company, civil servants or military personnel on secondment may be appointed, limited to a maximum of twenty, to general management, technical, financial or administrative positions within the Company.

ARTICLE 20 WINDING UP AND LIQUIDATION

If the decision is taken to wind up the Company, one or more liquidators are appointed by the General Meeting of Shareholders, under the quorum and majority conditions specified for Annual General Meetings of Shareholders.

The liquidator represents the Company. He is accorded the widest powers for realization of the assets of the Company, including out of court settlement. The liquidator is empowered to pay creditors and distribute the remaining balance.

The General Meeting of Shareholders can authorize the liquidator to continue current business transactions, or undertake new business transactions, for Company liquidation purposes.

The amount of any net assets remaining after redemption of the shares at par is allocated to the shareholders on a pro rata basis with respect to their individual equity holdings.

ARTICLE 21 DISPUTES

Any disputes which may arise with regard to Company matters during the continuance of the Company or during its liquidation period, whether between the Company and the shareholders or between the shareholders themselves, shall be referred to the competent courts in the jurisdiction of which the registered address of the Company is situated.

For this purpose and in the event of any dispute, each shareholder will be required to nominate an address for service within the jurisdiction of the competent court for the registered address of the Company, and all summonses and notifications will be regularly delivered to this address for service, without regard to the normal address of the shareholder. Should the shareholder fail to nominate an address for service as required above, summonses and notifications will be validly delivered to the Public Prosecutor at the "Tribunal de Grande Instance" with jurisdiction for the registered address of the Company.
