Thales Canada Named a Greater Toronto Top Employer

- For the third time, Thales Canada has been recognized as a top employer in Greater Toronto.
- Thales employs more than 1,400 people in the Greater Toronto Area.

Canada’s Top 100 Employers competition, the definitive annual list of the country’s best workplaces, recognizes Thales Canada as a 2022 Greater Toronto’s Top Employer.

Thales Canada’s Greater Toronto offices employ more than 1,400 people and are home to both the digital identity and security business in Burlington as well as the Global Centre of Competence for Urban Rail Signalling in Toronto. Thales Canada provides signalling systems for more than 100 metro lines in over 40 major cities, including more than 120 km of mass transit railways in Canada. Further, the company produces personalized credit and debit card security technology for 1/3 of all Canadian citizens, in addition to authentication and verification capabilities for a broad range of government and enterprise customers.

“In this period of the pandemic, we have been particularly attentive to our onboarding and early career development activities, making sure that our new employees feel welcome and empowered to adapt their work style to ensure work-life balance. I am very pleased to see these efforts recognized by the selection of Thales Canada as a Top Employer in the Greater Toronto region, and we are very proud of our team of talented professionals who gain the trust of our clients each and every day.”

– Chris Pogue, CEO, Thales Canada

For more than 50 years, Thales Canada has been a leader in corporate research and development, supporting customers in the transportation, aerospace, defence and security markets, having established its first Thales Canada location in Toronto in 1967. Since those early beginnings, Thales Canada has been a steadfast supporter of the community, a strong partner of local businesses and a positive economic force in the region.

With operations in six other Canadian cities from coast-to-coast and a global presence in more than 68 countries, Thales is accelerating its Environmental, Social and Governance action plan to help build a safer, greener, more inclusive world. In particular, the company demonstrates an ongoing organizational commitment to invest in initiatives that promote diversity to attract the next generation of talent.
